Education

Doctor of Philosophy in Sports Medicine
University of Virginia
Dissertation: “Influence of Ankle Bracing and Load on Factors of Stability in Functionally Unstable and Stable Ankles”.

Master of Science in Exercise and Sports Sciences
University of Arizona
Thesis: “Non-surgical neck injuries in competitive wrestlers”.

Bachelor of Science in Education
University of Arizona

Professional Experience

Director of Athletic Training
Morsani College of Medicine, University of South Florida – Tampa, Florida
Program Director of the CAATE accredited entry-level athletic training program, oversee and teach within the online post-professional graduate program in Athletic Training, oversee the Sports Medicine & Athletic Related Trauma Institute (SMART). Advise undergraduate and graduate students in their academic degree pursuits and career development plans. Provide professional service to the department, college, and university.

Associate Professor of Athletic Training
University of South Florida – Tampa, Florida
Clinical Education Coordinator for the CAATE accredited entry-level athletic training program. Teach within the online post-professional graduate program in Athletic Training. Advise undergraduate and graduate students in their academic degree pursuits and career development plans. Provide professional service to the department, college, and university.

Assistant Professor of Athletic Training
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill – Chapel Hill, North Carolina
Teach athletic training classes for the CAATE accredited entry-level athletic training education program. Conduct and publish research/scholarly activities in areas of expertise including procurement of extramural funding. Advise undergraduate and graduate students in their academic degree pursuits and career development plans. Direct graduate and doctoral students with theses/dissertations. Provide professional service to the department, college, and university.

Clinical Instructor of Orthopedic Evaluation
Duke University Physician’s Assistant Program – Durham, North Carolina
Instructed students in clinical evaluation of orthopedic injuries and casting techniques in the nation’s top-ranked physician’s assistant program.

Updated 9/2013

Steven M. Zinder, PhD, ATC - 1
Adjunct/Assistant Professor of Athletic Training
University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill – Chapel Hill, North Carolina
July 2007 – June 2008

Assistant Professor of Athletic Training
California State University, Fullerton – Fullerton, California
August 2003 – June 2007
Teach athletic training classes for the CAATE accredited entry-level athletic training education program. Coordinate and monitor clinical rotations for undergraduate athletic training students. Establish and maintain affiliations with external institutions and develop new clinical rotation sites. Conduct and publish research/scholarly activities in areas of expertise. Advise students in their academic degree pursuits and career development plans. Direct graduate students with theses, projects and/or comprehensive exams. Provide professional service to the department, college, and university. Work in conjunction with the athletic training education program director in the maintenance and further development of the accredited program.

Assistant Professor of Sports Medicine/Athletic Training
University of Virginia – Charlottesville, Virginia
August 2002 – May 2003
Responsibilities included contributing to instruction, scholarship, and service in the master's level athletic training and doctoral level sports medicine programs. Additional responsibilities included assisting the program director in curriculum development, placement of students at clinical sites, interaction with clinical supervisors, student performance evaluation, and student recruitment and selection.

Head Athletic Trainer
Woodberry Forest School – Woodberry Forest, Virginia
August 1999 – May 2002

Research Assistant
Motion Analysis and Motor Performance Laboratory, Kluge Children’s Rehabilitation Center, University of Virginia – Charlottesville, Virginia
August 2000 – May 2002
Sports Medicine/Athletic Training Research Laboratory, University of Virginia
Charlottesville, Virginia
August 1999 – May 2002

Interim Head Athletic Trainer
Bucknell University – Lewisburg, Pennsylvania
January 1998 – May 1999

Assistant/Associate Athletic Trainer
Bucknell University – Lewisburg, Pennsylvania
August 1992 – August 1999

Head Athletic Trainer
Rincon High School – Tucson, Arizona
August 1990 – May 1992

Honors

“Associations between Physical Characteristics and Landing Biomechanics in Adolescent Females”

Aim: To determine the extent to which physical characteristics (that are modifiable through training) predict high risk knee joint landing mechanics in adolescent females, both before and after an exercise challenge.

Role: PI - Subject Recruitment, Collection of Data, Data Reduction, Manuscript Development and Dissemination

Amount: $2,500

NFL Charities Shultz (PI) 1/01/10 – 12/31/11

“The Effects of Exercise Induced Increases in Knee Laxity on Knee Joint Biomechanics”

Aim: To characterize the effects of exercise induced increases in knee laxity on weight bearing knee joint biomechanics via serial measures taken before, during and following a 90-minute simulated soccer match.

Role: Primary Research Assistant – Subject Recruitment and scheduling, Collection of Data, Data Reduction, Assist with Manuscript Development and Dissemination

Amount: $2,000

Summer Research Assistantship, UNCG 6/01/11 – 7/31/11

“The Relationship Between Timing of Energy Absorption and Fatigue During Landing”

Aim: To segment energy absorption of hip, knee, and ankle into early and terminal increments and examine whether the timing of these patterns are altered over the landing phase during the course of an intermittent exercise protocol.

Role: PI – Subject Recruitment and scheduling, Collection of Data, Data Reduction, Dissemination

Amount: $2,000

Summer Research Assistantship, UNCG 6/01/10 – 7/31/10

“Effect of Strength and Body Composition on changes in Biomechanics During a Soccer Match Simulation”

Aim: To examine the extent to which strength and body composition are related to serial decrements in lower extremity landing biomechanics over the course of a simulated soccer match.

Role: PI – Subject Recruitment and scheduling, Collection of Data, Data Reduction, Dissemination

Amount: $2,000
